D. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

1. At the time of Grand Jury returns, the Court will set an arraignment in the assigned Division pursuant to Rule 14, Arizona Rules of Criminal Procedure. The arraignments will be set on the assigned Division's normal law and motion calendar and the Court will set a Case Management Conference/Pretrial Conference on the Court's calendar based upon input from the parties.
2. Civil cases including Protective Orders (PO) filed as injunctions against harassment (IAH) and injunctions against workplace harassment (IAWH) will be assigned to a civil judge when filed according to the above distribution.
3. Protective Orders filed as Orders of Protection will be assigned when filed to a domestic relations judge according to the above distribution.
4. Effective February 18, 2020, domestic relations cases will be assigned to a judge when filed according to the above distribution and the assigned Judge is responsible for temporary orders, defaults, related Protective Orders and the Dismissal Order process .
5. Civil post-judgment and domestic relations post-decree matters shall be assigned according to the above distribution.
6. Cases heard in Early Disposition Court (EDC) shall be assigned by the Judge presiding over EDC in the manner set forth in this Administrative Order and that assignment shall apply to pending matters as well as future Petitions To Revoke, Petitions For Post-Conviction Relief,

Petitions For Termination of Probation, Petitions to Enact, Writs of Habeas Corpus, Restoration of Rights and Designation of Offenses.

7. Cases assigned to a problem-solving court which are determined to be no longer appropriate for the problem-solving court shall be returned to the sentencing Judge for all further proceedings unless the Defendant and State stipulate and the sentencing Judge agrees that the Judge presiding over the problem-solving court can preside over those further proceedings.
8. Cases which involve post-conviction relief (PCR) proceedings, restoration of rights or designation of offense, shall be assigned to the sentencing judge, if the sentencing Judge is currently assigned to receive criminal cases. If the sentencing Judge is not currently assigned to receive new criminal cases, the case shall be assigned according to the above distribution. Once assigned by the Clerk, the newly assigned judge shall consult with the sentencing judge who presided over the case to determine whether the case should be assigned to the sentencing judge pursuant to the Rules of Criminal Procedure or in the interest of justice.
9. Criminal cases in which prosecution was deferred and a motion has been filed or there is a post-adjudication matter, with the exception of therapeutic courts covered in this Administrative Order, shall be assigned to the sentencing judge, if the sentencing judge is currently assigned to receive criminal cases in the same judicial district in which the case originated. If the sentencing judge is not currently assigned to receive new criminal cases in the same judicial district in which the case originated, the case shall be assigned according to the above distribution. Once assigned by the Clerk, the newly assigned judge shall consult with the sentencing judge who presided over the case to determine whether the case should be assigned to the sentencing judge pursuant to the Rules of Criminal Procedure or in the interest of justice.

10. Any pending case previously assigned to a judge not currently presiding over cases in Yavapai County and not otherwise specifically addressed above shall be assigned consistent with the above distribution.

11. When reassignment pursuant to this Administrative Order would be detrimental to the prompt administration of justice, judges may choose to retain certain cases at their discretion or may be required to retain cases as decided by the Presiding Judge.

DATED at Prescott, Arizona, the 20th day of March, 2020.

For : DAVID L. MACKEY
Presiding Judge
